ORDER

THIS MATTER is before the Court upon motion of the defendant to terminate supervised release early. (Doc. No. 2).

Title 18, United States Code, Section 3583(e)(1) permits a court to discharge a defendant from supervised release after one year if warranted by the conduct of the defendant and the interest of justice. The defendant was convicted of a bank fraud alleged to be part of an extensive conspiracy to produce and cash counterfeit checks. (Doc. No. 1: Judgment). The defendant's sentence, imposed in January 2007, includes restitution in the amount of $382,151. Because the defendant still owes approximately $373,834, the Court finds it would not be in the interest of justice to terminate supervised release at this time.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED that the defendant's motion is DENIED.

Signed: October 27, 2010

Chief United States District Judge
